

Default Question Block

Is it Significant?: Examining the Relationship between the Racial Identity Statuses and Academic Motivation Styles of African-American College Students

I am a graduate student under the direction of Professor Richard Knopf in the School of Community Resources and Development at Arizona State University. I am conducting a research study to understand the relationship between the academic motivation styles and racial identities of African-American college students, both undergraduate and graduate students.

I am inviting your participation, which will involve approximately 30 minutes of your time, as you will be answering an assortment of questions in this online survey. You have the right not to answer any question, and to stop participation at any time. All responses will be anonymous.

Your participation in this research study is voluntary. If you choose not to participate or to withdraw from the study at any time, there will be no penalty. To participate in this study, you have to 1) be at least 18 years of age, 2) identify as African-American, and 3) be currently attending (full-time or part-time) a college or university.

Although there are no direct benefits to you regarding this study, your responses could help the researcher with constructing alternative methods for motivating more African-American children to pursue a post-secondary education. There are no foreseeable risks or discomforts to your participation.

Confidentiality will be maintained throughout the entirety of this study – only one person will have access to any personal information. You do not have to provide any of your personal information unless you are participating in the Amazon gift card raffle (valued at $100 each and totaling 5 winners); and that information will consist of your first and last name, as well as your email address. Once the study has concluded, all personal information will be deleted and destroyed, and will NOT be utilized for any additional purposes. Your responses will be anonymous and confidential. The results of this study may be used in reports, presentations, or publications but your name will not be used.

If you have any questions concerning the research study, please contact the research team at: (vrander3@asu.edu or Richard.Knopf@asu.edu). If you have any questions about your rights as a subject/participant in this research, or if you feel you have been placed at risk, you can contact the Chair of the Human Subjects Institutional Review Board, through the ASU Office of Research Integrity and Assurance, at (480) 965-6788.

If you agree to be in this study, please click the "Yes" button below to advance to the next section to take the survey.
