Dear Dr. Gottlieb:

I have obtained some very favorable information concerning Mr. Kleinman, from Dr. J. Stern who supervises his work in medical psychology. He did very well scholastically and has gained a broad research experience in animal and human experimental work. He has an inquisitive mind and is technically very skillfull. He is capable of transfer of his knowledge from one field to another.

Last week I met Mr. Kleinman again, and now I remember him as a student in my neuro-embryology class several years ago. He did very well and showed interest in the subject. He is very personable and probably cooperative. I would be glad to have him around in my laboratory.

With my best regards,

Sincerely,

Viktor Hamburger
Professor of Zoology
