Dear Dr. Hamburger,

I haven't written you for quite a while but there is very little to write about in my circumstances. Also, I suppose that Ray has kept you informed as to my whereabouts.

I think often of school and wish I were with you this fall. I surely hope to get to come back and take up where I left off last spring. I am afraid, though, that I am getting very ~~slow~~ stable on everything. Also, I have, of course, no chance at all of keeping up with new developments.

I managed to pick up a couple of bacteriology books which I have been reading and it helps quite a bit. Also have been able to pick up a little information as I have never studied that subject.

I have enjoyed what chances I have had to get around and visit the country here and, of course, am making the best of what chances I get.

I hope and trust that this finds things going well with you. My regards to Dr. Taylor and the others.

Sincerely,
 Byron S. Wenger
